

CHENAVARI ANNOUNCEMENT

9TH APRIL 2018

Chenavari hires BNP Paribas' Global Head of Credit Trading – Benjamin Jacquard

Chenavari Investment Managers is pleased to announce that Benjamin Jacquard joined Chenavari on Monday 9th April as a Partner, in charge of Strategic Development.

Benjamin joins Chenavari from BNP Paribas where he was previously Global Head of Credit, running the trading, structuring and sales teams. Before joining BNP Paribas in 2008, Benjamin built and managed exotic credit trading and structuring teams at Bank of America, Credit Agricole and CPR. Benjamin graduated from ENS Ulm and holds a PhD in Mathematics. In addition, he was also a board member of the well-established International Swaps and Derivatives Association (ISDA).

Chenavari is confident that Benjamin's extensive experience and expertise across liquid and illiquid credit will help the firm to reaffirm its ambitions in credit amongst new and existing strategies. Benjamin's arrival will help structure further the strategy of Chenavari, as the company enters its second decade of existence, and address the ongoing transformation of the firm and industry.
